exchange because it doesn't have a central floor.

- Net Change—a change in value over time.
- New-Issues Market—a market in which a corporation sells new stock to raise money for a start-up or expansion. This market is often called the primary stock market.
- NYSE—the New York Stock Exchange, which is one of the organized stock markets in New York City.
- Over the Counter (OTC)—a way of trading stock other than trading on an exchange. Over the counter quotations are supplied by the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations (NASDAQ) system. OTC stocks are usually small, and not frequently traded.
- Pink Sheet Market—another name for the OTC market. The "pink sheets" are lists of OTC stocks and the prices at which dealers are offering to buy and sell them. These lists are printed on pink paper and distributed early every morning to the trading community.
- Primary Markets—those markets in which stocks are offered for sale the first time.
- Private equity—a broad term that commonly refers to any type of non-public ownership equity securities that are not listed on a public exchange.
- Quotes—the highest price bid by a buyer and the lowest price asked by a seller for a stock at a given time. Quotes are usually expressed in dollars and fractions of a dollar. For example, a share of Apple Computer was quoted at 27¾, which meant $27.75.
- Round Lot—one hundred shares of a stock. Stocks are generally traded this way.
- Secondary Markets—those markets in which stocks can be bought and sold once they are approved for public sale.
- Specialist—a broker on an exchange who trades in certain stocks at a specific location on the trading floor.
