At the end of 2009, we close the books with a trading gain of nearly 26%. Not bad at all. The interest income is down significantly, now that interest rates are getting really low. But at least we had nice gains from trading, and after fees we added US$10 million to our investors' coffers and, perhaps even more importantly, we got paid over US$2.5 million for this year. With the higher asset base of the portfolio, fees are getting interesting.

2010

We're loaded up on a bull market portfolio, heavily long the equity complex. The bet on long stocks is quite substantial, with longs on most indexes as well as a short on the VIX index to add to the bull posture. In fact, we have very much a long portfolio across the board this year, over rates, agriculture, energies and metals (Tables 6.33 and 6.34, and Figure 6.50). Quite a risky portfolio, but risk is part of the game and after the previous couple of years, we're flying high and probably getting more than a little cocky.

TABLE 6.33 Initial portfolio 2010

Market	Direction	Sector
Soybean Oil	Long	Agriculture
Soybean Meal	Long	Agriculture
Robusta Coffee	Short	Agriculture
Live Cattle	Short	Agriculture
Coffee C	Long	Agriculture
Lean Hogs	Long	Agriculture
Cotton No. 2	Long	Agriculture
Soybean	Long	Agriculture
Feeder Cattle	Short	Agriculture
Cocoa	Long	Agriculture
White Sugar	Long	Agriculture
Sugar No. 11	Long	Agriculture
Lumber	Long	Agriculture
Canadian Dollar	Long	Currencies
E-mini S&P MidCap 400	Long	Equities
S&P/TSX 60 Index	Long	Equities
E-mini Russell 2000	Long	Equities
E-mini Dow	Long	Equities

(Continued)