Spotting the good from the not-so-good

Here’s a quick recap to help you choose a platform or provider that supports your investing journey (without adding unnecessary stress):

Green Flags:

- Low fees
- Easy-to-use interfaces (apps & web pages)
- A solid reputation
- Clear, transparent information & communication

You want a provider that makes investing simple, straightforward, and accessible, not something that leaves you overwhelmed or confused.

Red Flags:

- Have hidden fees or sneaky charges
- Use complicated jargon that makes it hard to understand what you’re investing in
- Offer poor customer service
- Encourage risky behaviour like day trading, speculative investments, or chasing the latest trends

The right platform will help you stay consistent, confident, and focused on your long-term goals, not distracted by short-term noise.

2: Choose your investments

Once your account is set up, the next step is to pick your investments. For the Lazy 3 Portfolio, you’ll be looking for three key ingredients:

1. Fund 1 (Bond Fund): Lower risk, helps smooth out the ups and downs
2. Fund 2 (Domestic Index Fund): Broad exposure to the local share market
