

think money is important, you simply won't have any.

You can actually dazzle your friends with this insight. Imagine you're in a conversation with a friend who tells you, "Money's not important." Put your hand on your forehead and look up as though you are getting a message from the heavens, then exclaim, "You're broke!" To which your shocked friend will undoubtedly respond, "How did you know?" Then you stretch out your palm and you reply, "What else do you want to know? That'll be fifty bucks, please!"

Let me put it bluntly: anyone who says money isn't important doesn't have any! Rich people