

As long as it's legal, moral, and ethical, they will do whatever it takes to have wealth. Rich people do not send mixed messages to the universe. Poor people do.

(By the way, when you read that last paragraph, if a little voice inside your head said something to the effect of “Rich people don't care if it's legal, moral, or ethical,” you are definitely doing the right thing in reading this book. You'll soon find out what a detrimental way of thinking that is.)

WEALTH PRINCIPLE: