

devote oneself unreservedly.” This means holding absolutely nothing back; giving 100 percent of everything you’ve got to achieving wealth. It means being willing to do whatever it takes for as long as it takes. This is the warrior’s way. No excuses, no ifs, no buts, no maybes—and failure is not an option. The warrior’s way is simple: “I will be rich or I will die trying.”

“I commit to being rich.” Try saying that to yourself....What comes up for you? For some, it feels empowering. For others, it feels daunting.

Most people would never truly commit to being rich. If you asked them, “Would you bet your life that
