

recondition my mind so that I would think in the same ways rich people do.

Finally, I said, “Enough yakking about it, let’s put it to the test.” I decided to attempt yet another business. Because I was really into health and exercise, I opened one of the first retail fitness stores in North America. I didn’t have any money, so I had to borrow $2,000 on my Visa card to get the business started. I began using what I’d learned by modeling rich people, both in terms of their business strategies and their thinking strategies. The first thing I did was commit to my success and playing to win. I swore I would focus and not even consider leaving
