

you're not worthy, you're not.
Either way you will live into your story. This is so critical, I'm going to repeat that again: you will live into your story. It's that simple.

WEALTH PRINCIPLE:
If you say you're worthy, you are.
If you say you're not worthy,
you're not.
Either way you will live into your story.

So why would people do this to themselves? Why would people make up the story that they're not
