

We said earlier that thoughts lead to feelings, that feelings lead to actions, that actions lead to results. So here's an interesting question: Where do your thoughts come from? Why do you think differently from the next person?

Your thoughts originate from the “files of information” you have in the storage cabinets of your mind. So where does this information come from? It comes from your past programming. That's right, your past conditioning determines every thought that bubbles up in your mind. That's why it's often referred to as the conditioned mind.

To reflect this understanding, we can now revise our Process of