

Seth Alexander is president of the MIT Investment Management Company (MITIMCo), a division of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. MITIMCo manages the endowment, retirement plan, retiree welfare benefit plan, and other financial assets of MIT. In his essay, Alexander discusses how the principles of Graham and Dodd apply to endowment management.