

Cryptocurrency data has emerged as a major new category in financial markets. Bitcoin, Ethereum, and thousands of other cryptocurrencies now represent a trillion-dollar market with unique data characteristics.