

While grid search is thorough and easy to understand, it becomes computationally expensive with more parameters since the number of combinations grows exponentially.