

Virtual Environments: Keeping Your Projects Isolated

Imagine you're working on two trading strategies: one uses the latest machine learning libraries for predicting market moves, while the other uses statistical arbitrage techniques with older, well-tested libraries.