

Image 10.7 – Ninja Trader Tool

Ninja Trader is a free software available for download. Anyone can download and install it on one's system. The only additional requirement is that a trader needs static or local data to use the charting platform (helpful for strategy development or backtesting). Otherwise, he can also subscribe to data feeds to get the live chart.

One small tip is to always use NSE-approved data vendors (for Indian markets), if you take a live data feed to take trades in the live market, because the accuracy of the data is the most crucial aspect in intraday trading.

Tool #6 Amibroker

Amibroker is a very well-known software in the trading community which is extensively used for backtesting, fine-tuning trading strategies, and algo execution.

This software tool comes with inbuilt user-friendly charts, drag and drop indicators, and it also allows to code individual indicators/strategies. It will
