

nearby villages) and sells in smaller quantities to many people at a higher price.

Do you think he is gambling?

If your answer is 'No,' then intraday trading is also not gambling. Vegetable seller makes his assessment and sells the vegetables at higher prices to make some profit.

In the same manner, day traders have their own techniques to assess the price fluctuations and take the trades.

But the main issue is that many people ignore these analyses, don't work hard enough to learn the skills required for day trading, and straightaway start to take intraday bets.

We can take one more example. IPL changed the Indian cricket environment in a big way. In fact, it is the #1 platform for many young Indian cricketers to show their talent and play for the country.

But many people make bets on each IPL match, and they lose money. In this case, do you think IPL is bad?

IPL is just a fantastic platform. It depends on the person – whether he wants to participate in it and thereby play for the national side or make bets on some silly matters to lose all the money.

Intraday Trading is similar to IPL. One can utilize it to make good money or as a gambling source to lose all the money!

Which one do you choose?

Virat Kohli's 4 Rules for Success!

Do you want to know why Virat Kohli is the most successful cricketer on this planet? There are many reasons, but let's study only the top 4 reasons and how to implement them in intraday trading.