

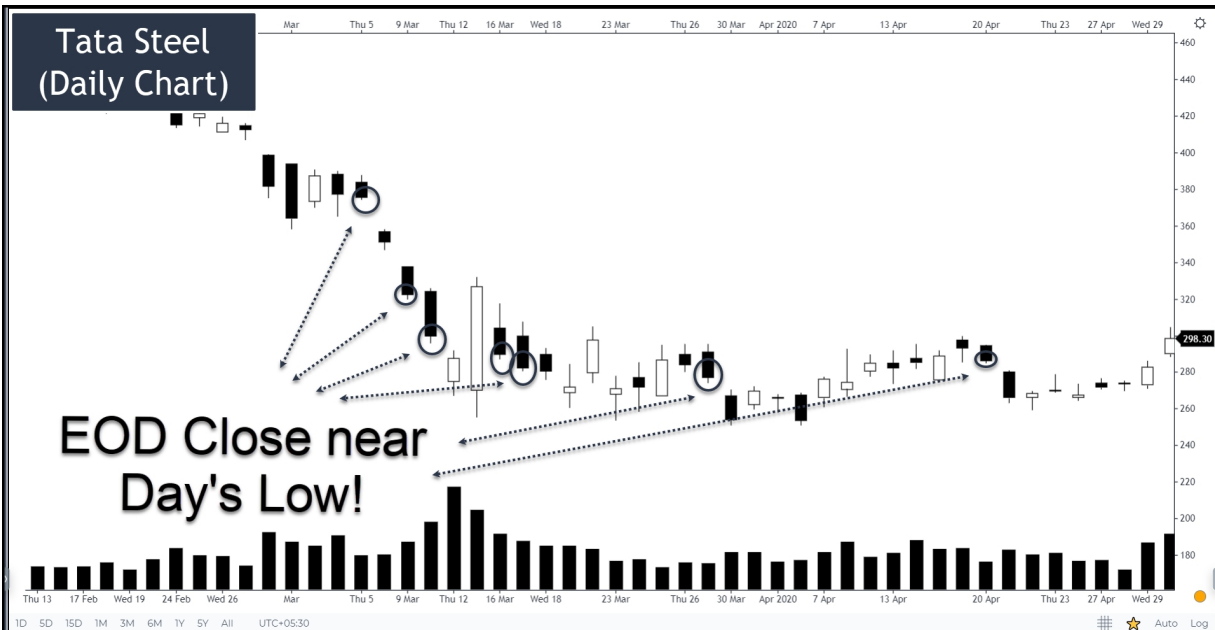

Image 2.5 – EOD Close near Day's Low

In the above chart, in many instances, the price closed near day's low, and in the majority of the cases, the price displayed open-high on the following day and moved in the south direction.

Again, many online chart providers and screeners provide the facility to shortlist the stocks that are closed near day's high or low. Day traders can make use of the techniques mentioned above to shortlist the stocks for next-day trading.

Watching Netflix every day after work is easy

Not working on your trading, and partying is easy

Gossiping about politics, sports, with your old friends is easy

Spending all your money in the shopping mall is easy.

BUT EASY DOESN'T PAY WELL!

So work hard on your trading skills now, so that you can enjoy later!
