

CHAPTER 3

Some Price Levels Play A Crucial Role In Day Trading

A few years ago, I traveled to a remote place to attend the marriage of an old friend. I was excited as I got a chance to meet many of my old classmates after 16-17 years. On the way, I had some issues with the car, and by the time I reached the place, it was already early morning of the next day, about 3:00 AM.

It was a small town, and our friend had arranged a few hotel rooms for us. But all the friends settled in one big room. Some were sleeping; some were chatting. I was happy to see all of them, and started chatting too.

One friend (who is very disciplined, a class topper, and dutiful since childhood) was sleeping. Knowing his personality, none of us thought to wake him up.