

This small 1-hour range is highly beneficial for day traders when the price is trading away from the previous day's range and swing high/low. Very often, this range acts as support and resistance in normal conditions. Besides, any decisive breakout from this level will result in a good move.

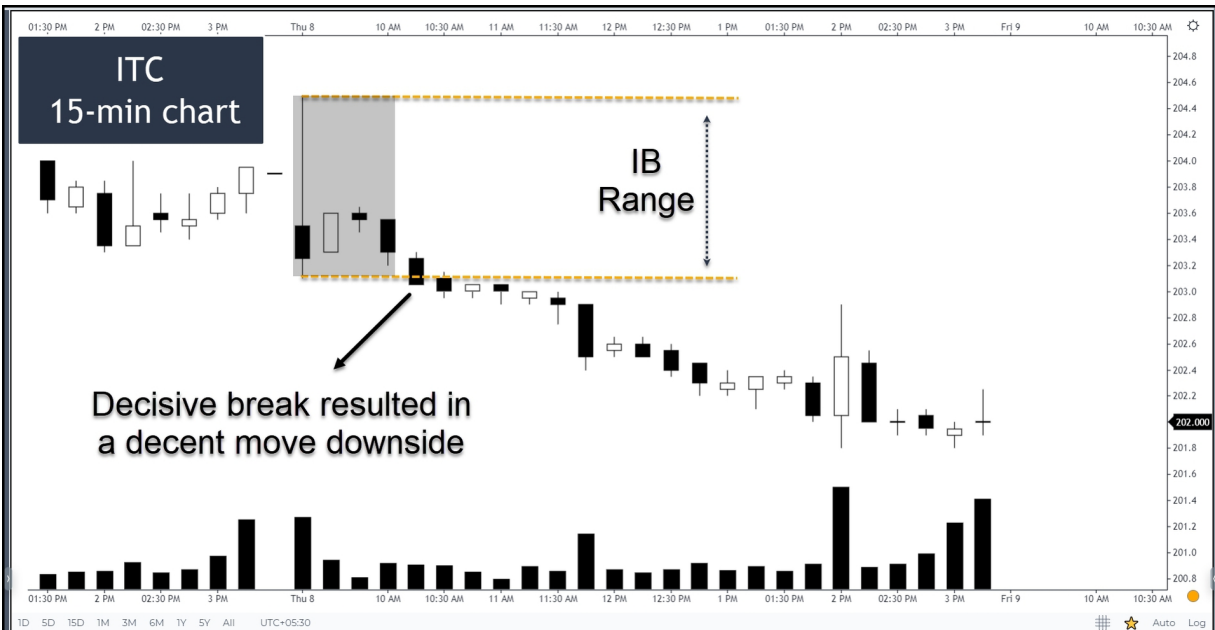

Image 3.13 – ITC 15-min Chart

In the above image, the price showed a decisive break of IB Low, and it didn't come back to the range and showed a decent move on the downside.