

Image 4.5 – Hammer and Bullish Harami Combo Pattern in TCS

The above image shows the TCS 15-min chart on 26-Nov-2020. The 'hammer + bullish harami' combo occurred at the IB low. Later, the price rallied to the upside.

I believe these three examples are sufficient to understand this pattern. Before using this pattern, please try to identify this pattern in the historical intraday chart (preferably 15-min chart) of any stock or index. Then it will be easy to identify this pattern in the live market.

Please note that this pattern doesn't give 100% accuracy (in fact, none of the concepts have 100% accuracy in the market). So, a strict stop loss below this pattern is mandatory.

Pinbar Pattern

Many traders use different varieties of pin bars. However, I have seen that one type of pin bar frequently occurs near IB high, PDH, and swing high on most of the days.

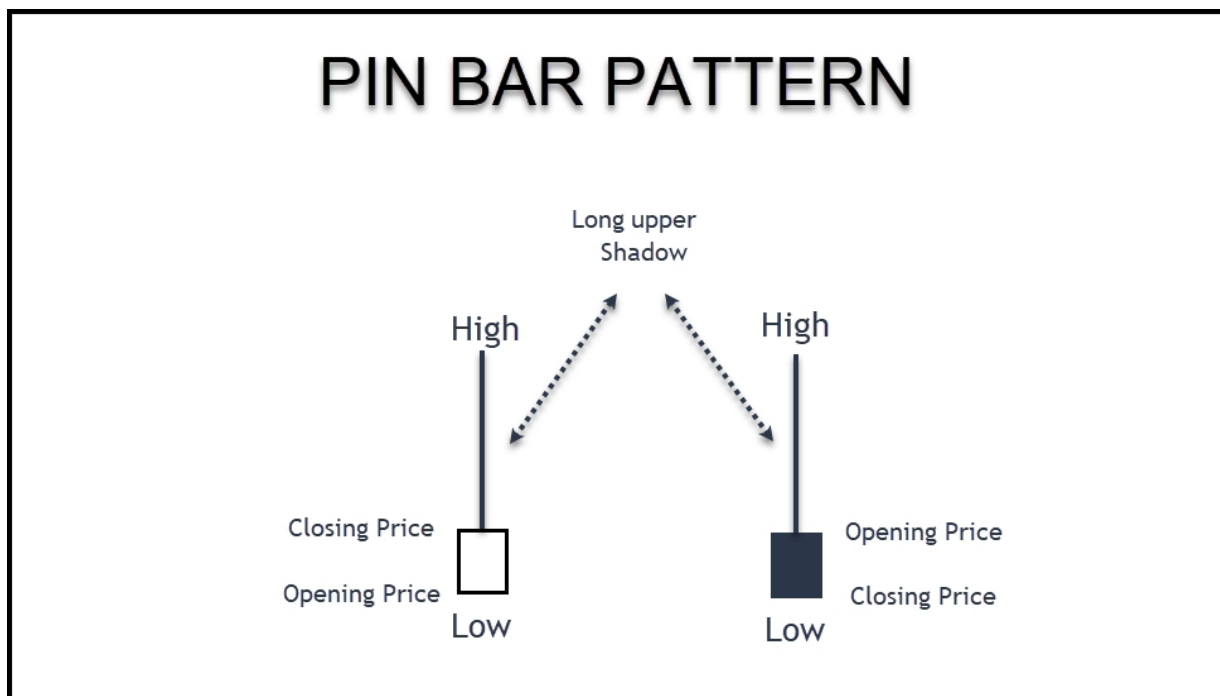

Image 4.6 – Pin bar Pattern