

But on 7th July, it started consolidating at the resistance trend line, which is nothing but price acceptance. It indicates the absence of sellers (as the sharp selling is missing), and there is a higher probability of price breaking the resistance trend line.

Image 4.18 – Price Acceptance Result in Tata Steel

Image 4.18 shows the result of the price action after it showed price acceptance below the resistance trend line.

