

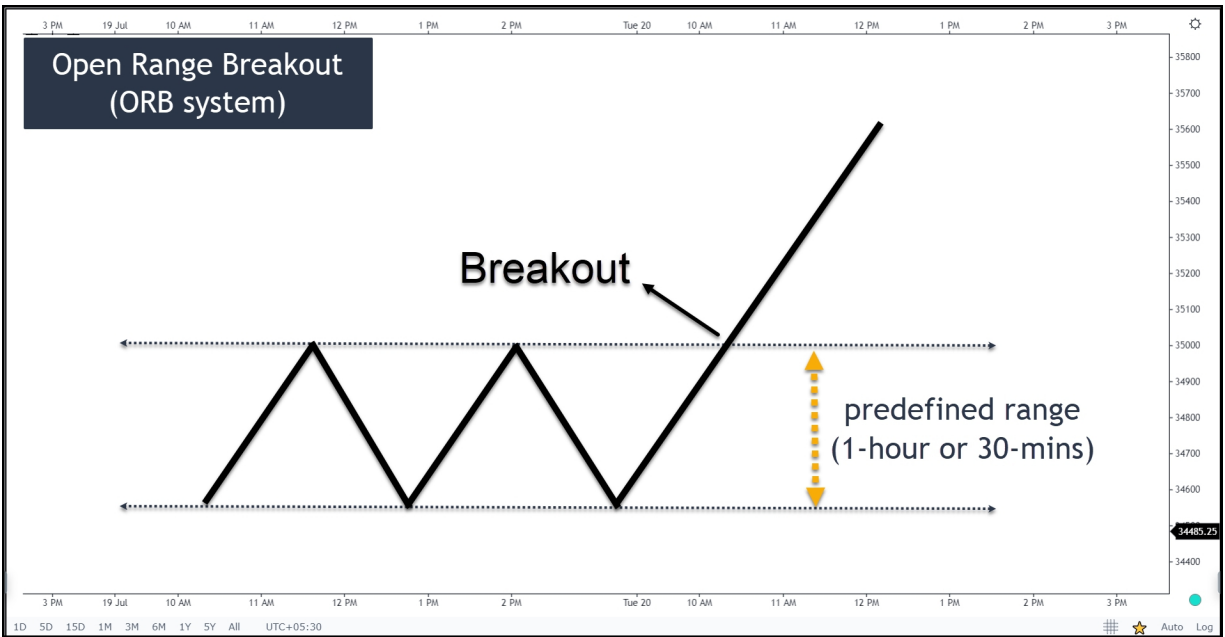

Image 5.12 – Open Range Breakout (ORB) Concept

As per the ORB strategy, traders take the trade in the direction of the breakout of the predefined range (1-hour or 30-minutes).

If the price breaks the range high, they go for a long trade, and if the price breaks the range low, they go for a short trade.

Earlier, this system was giving good results. But, it doesn't show good results in the current market conditions and now gives many false breakouts and false breakdowns.
