

‘They finally “got it”—and we made the easiest $762.80 we’ve ever made!’

The McDonnells, Sydney, NSW

I feel like as parents we have done an appalling job of teaching our kids the value of money.

We’ve always struggled to get the kids to comprehend how hard we work just to cover the household expenses. They would leave the lights on, take long showers or lose their things and just shrug. It was infuriating and I was constantly nagging them.

Working out how much money it costs to run a household and negotiating on the bills are life skills I feel we haven’t taught them. We’re running out of time to instill those values in them. They’re only
