

Money Meal ‘shopping list’

- Print two copies of the Zero to Hero Résumé template from barefootinvestor.com/resources
- Get your teen to have a go at filling out their copy beforehand—and bring it to the Money Meal. Doesn’t have to be perfect.
- Fill out the other copy yourself, with suggestions to be discussed at the Money Meal. Take time to come up with some really thoughtful stories you can tell about your teen.

BAREFOOT MONEY MEAL

Zero to Hero Résumé

Make a family favourite meal tonight—we want everyone to be on their best behaviour.

ENTRÉE:

Tell the family that tonight you’re all helping your teen put together their résumé.

If siblings are going to be there, set the tone: they can fight the rest of the week, but tonight you’re all a team and you’re working for the same goal.

MAIN COURSE:

Go through the Zero to Hero Résumé as a family.

For each question, first get your teen to read out their answers. Give them honest, supportive, feedback!

Then everyone else should suggest their own stories or memories (and you read out the ones you’ve prepared).
