

BAREFOOT MONEY MEAL

THE BAREFOOT LADDER

You're about to put the idea of home ownership on your teen's radar. Cook their favourite meal to get their attention.

ENTRÉE

First, it's time to set up your Barefoot Ladder Fund.

Review the options on page and decide which investment bond is best for you—then set it up with a regular direct debit. (You may choose to do this before or even after the Money Meal—the point is that you get it done.)

MAIN COURSE:

Break out the Serviette Strategy you created for your teen in Chapter 1 (see page).

Tell your teen that they're going to set up a new high-interest online saver, and nick-name it House Deposit Savings. This is the account they'll one day use to buy their own home—and to encourage them to save, you'll match their efforts dollar for dollar (or whatever you can afford).

DESSERT:

Play the Family Legends game:

Do you know . . .

- the story of how Mum and Dad bought our family home?
- what Mum and Dad's first home was like and how much it cost?
