

About the author

Scott Pape is the founder of the Barefoot Investor.

For 15 years he's reached millions of Australians through his national weekend newspaper column, appearances on TV and radio, and bestselling books.

In 2010 independent research firm CoreData found that:

SCOTT PAPE is considered the most knowledgeable regarding financial matters, topping the ratings in the areas of superannuation, investment, taxation, insurance and economics. Pape is also considered the most trustworthy, truthful in how he presents himself and in touch with financial matters that affect everyday Australians.

In 2014 he was chosen to assist with the government's national financial literacy in schools program. He has worked with AFL and NRL teams, struggling single mums and elderly pensioners.

In 2016 he wrote The Barefoot Investor: The Only Money Guide You'll Ever Need. It has sold over one million copies.

Scott lives in country Victoria with his family, on their farm, and is often seen belting around in an old ute that doesn't need to be locked.
