

world experiences and have conversations with your kids that you'll remember for the rest of your life. And so will they.

Money Meal 'shopping list'

Here's what you'll need to get ready for your first Money Meal:

- three jam jars for each child (all ages)
- sparkly pens so your kids can decorate
- printed Barefoot Scoreboard for each kid
(barefootinvestor.com/resources)
- wallet or purse for older kids.

YOUR FIRST BAREFOOT MONEY MEAL

ENTRÉE:

Call your kids for dinner. When you're all seated, announce: 'Every Sunday (or whatever day you pick) we're going to have a special meal—called a Money Meal—because it's PAYDAY!'

(Feel free to sing those words like Oprah: 'Free car!')

To break the ice, ask your kids some conversation starters—just adapt the following questions to suit your family. Throughout the book I tend to refer to 'Mum and Dad' but please take that to mean any caregivers.

Play the Family Legends game:

Do you know . . .

- where Mum and Dad met . . . and who made the first move?
- what happened when you were born?
