

- how Mum and Dad chose your name?

Seriously, do this game—your kids will love it.

MAIN COURSE:

Lay out the jam jars and the Scoreboard.

Explain the Money Meal idea: it happens each week, everyone pitches in, everyone gets paid pocket money for doing jobs during the week.

The pocket money will go into the jam jars, some money into every jar.

On their Scoreboard, each kid writes three jobs (see pages) and their savings goal, then sticks it on the fridge.

Answer any questions the kids may have (see the Parents' Script below).

DESSERT:

Have a cake to celebrate.

And . . . everyone does the dishes together.

Money Meal parents' script

Your kids are going to have some questions, and I want your first Family Money Meal to go smoothly. So here are some scripts you can use.

What are we doing?

From now on, each Sunday night we're going to sit down and have a family meal. We're going to call it a Money Meal, because that's when you get PAID!

Are we doing this every week?
