

It looks a little something like this ...

Teen serviette

The Splurge account

This is a zero-fee everyday transaction account, and it's for everyday teen splurging. Think phone credit, clothes, online shopping (for God's sake take your card off their iTunes account) and giving (which I'll have a lot more to say about in a couple of chapters). Yet as you'll explain to your teen, 'Splurge' is the only bucket most people have—which is why most people are broke.

That's why they are going to open ...
