

First, you're going to clear up once and for all the question of where to store birthday and extra money by opening up zero-fee, high-interest online savings accounts for each of your kids.

If your teenager has a part-time job, they're going to take a huge step towards financial independence—and score a major confidence win—by setting up their own 'buckets' too.

And then, you're going to do your first ever payday—starting a family tradition that's guaranteed to make your kids 'good with money' in just three minutes a week.

With a slice of pizza in your hand!

It's your first payday, so make a big deal of it. Going forward, I recommend keeping payday until dessert as a tricky way to keep the kids interested.

Money Meal 'shopping list'

- ING Orange Everyday Youth (ing.com.au)
- ME Bank (mebank.com.au)
- UBank (ubank.com.au)
- Comparison sites (finder.com.au and mozo.com.au).

BAREFOOT MONEY MEAL FIRST PAYDAY

This meal's a big one, because it's your kids' first time getting paid! What's more, we're going to show them that managing money can be easy . . . and fee-free.

ENTRÉE: