

this provides the bull signal for rise, penetrating the previous recovery high of 7. The entire pattern repeats with the remaining variation of filling in the last remaining gap at 2 and providing a balancing upside jump from 2 to 8 with the remaining figures filling in that gap, a masterful piece of music which follows all the directions implied by sound technical stock market analysis.

BEETHOVEN AND THE FIFTH

Ludwig van Beethoven (1770–1827) also subconsciously followed the “technical” line in his music and the opening bars of his immortal fifth symphony provide a good example:

Beethoven
Adapted by John Thompson

The musical score is presented in four systems, each with a piano (piano) part on the left and a violin part on the right. The key signature is three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat) and the time signature is 4/4. The piano part begins with a forte (ff) dynamic, followed by a crescendo (cresc.) and then a forte (f) dynamic. The violin part begins with a forte (ff) dynamic, followed by a crescendo (cresc.) and then a forte (f) dynamic. The score includes various musical notations such as slurs, ties, and fingerings (e.g., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5). The first system shows the piano part with a forte (ff) dynamic and the violin part with a forte (ff) dynamic. The second system shows the piano part with a forte (ff) dynamic and the violin part with a forte (ff) dynamic. The third system shows the piano part with a forte (ff) dynamic and the violin part with a forte (ff) dynamic. The fourth system shows the piano part with a forte (ff) dynamic and the violin part with a forte (ff) dynamic.
