

whole business, rather than by permitting conditions which indirectly create pressures to increase the trading of present customers.

We propose to relate the salaries of our representatives primarily to the quality of service rendered to our clients.

In order that partners and managers may contribute as much as possible to the operation of this new impartial service, we plan to release them to a large extent from routine duties, so that their services may be at the disposal of any trader, large or small, who may require their expert knowledge or skilled assistance.

ON PANIC DAYS OUR REGULAR CUSTOMERS COME FIRST

It is when transactions jump from an average day to several million shares a day that your broker's facilities must meet the test of emergency. And it is on these days that the customer requires top service to protect or establish his position.

We therefore offer the following unconditional guarantee of service in emergencies: no new accounts will be opened in any day when the volume of trading at any time indicates that the facilities of the firm may be over-taxed.

Although Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt has created one of the fastest and most accurate transmission systems for the execution of orders, we recognize that mistakes or delays can still happen. Where errors are due directly to the firm's personnel, or to any other factor under our control, we shall of course make the proper adjustments. In all other cases, effort will be made to expedite settlement