

referred to him by his existing clientele. When he mentions, "So-and-so told me to call you, Mr. Prospect," it's like having an introduction that gives him an immediate endorsement. The prospect knows that Shafiroff must have a fine reputation and expertise, because he respects the opinion of the third party.