

Annuities

Inheritances

Under-the-Table Income

eBay Sales

Other

Other

Other

Your 90-Day Input Number

Now, on a separate page, add up every single dollar you spend. All outgoing money: every latte, every pair of shoes, every bag of chips at every counter you've stood at while waiting for your car to come out of the car wash, every haircut, every donated coin, every lottery ticket, book, transit fare, tip, oil change, every ice cream cone bought for your kids, every movie ticket and parking ticket, that second glass of wine at a restaurant, that round-trip ticket, that first-class upgrade. Track all of it. Most important, document your debt payments, your bills and utilities, your car payments, and your mortgage or rent. You're looking for a pattern that 90 days of spending will begin to make clear. Write it all down.

90-Day Output

Rent/Mortgage Payments

Condo Fees/Property Taxes
