

book, but it's worth it). Or better yet, write the card out in your own handwriting. KEEP THIS CARD IN YOUR PURSE OR WALLET. That's an order. Every time you are about to make a purchase—and I mean every time—for clothing, food, liquor, appliances, lipstick, concert tickets, or anything at all—first pull out this card. Read it to yourself. Before you pay for your goods, decide whether you are in a consumer trance or operating in good sense. If you're in a trance, put the goods down. Walk away from the store, close the laptop, or turn off the TV. Say—out loud—“I'm proud of myself. I've done the right thing. I've woken up from the trance. I've saved my money.”

I pledge to make no purchases unless I can answer TRUE to the following FIVE statements.

1. I have given this purchase sufficient thought.
2. Buying this item will not create debt for me or anyone else.
3. I not only want this item, I need it.
4. This item is more valuable than the interest I'd earn if I saved the money instead.
5. This item will matter to me in a year.
