

At its peak, The Learning Company was selling educational software in over 40 countries and was still growing. I was always on the road. It was a difficult time for my family as I missed many unique moments in my children's lives. Being an entrepreneur requires sacrifice; you have to remember why you are doing it when you are sitting in a hotel room thousands of miles away from home. Also, if you are going to live an unbalanced life and want a family, you better marry someone who can run the family in your absence.

QUIZ: DO YOU SPEAK THE SAME MONEY LANGUAGE AS YOUR MATE?

How can you tell if you're dating a mooch, a spendaholic, a loafer or a thief? What's it like to build a life with a fellow meanie instead? As a part of your relationship due diligence, take the following quiz. This is for your eyes only, so be truthful—even if you don't always like your answers. The more cold
