

people without being detected. Trust your instincts here. Most of us can tell when something is wrong; it's only when we ignore our instincts that we get into trouble.

If you primarily answered primarily e), congratulations. Looks like you've found a fellow meanie. You're headed in the right direction, toward a life filled with financial happiness and well-deserved success.

This quiz presents some worst-case scenarios, but these are realities for many people. If your partner shows signs of fluency in one of the first four money languages, talk with him or her about it. Voice your fears and concerns. If your partner clearly has no interest in learning to speak meanie, walk away. You're not doing yourself any favors by staying with someone who is spiraling toward a future of financial ruin. You deserve better. And as I said to that Ryerson student, better is out there. You just have to find it—and put a ring on it.