

George married my mother, Georgette, on June 30, 1962. I was only eight years old at the time and had no idea what a profound impact my stepfather would have on my life years later. He is still a major influence to this day.