

Performance Management and Collaboration

Clear roles, responsibilities, and performance expectations were established for the consultants.

Regular progress reviews and feedback sessions involving the consulting firm and the client's project managers were held.

Continuous learning and knowledge sharing were encouraged, fostering a collaborative environment and enhancing the consultants' skills.

The consulting firm proactively managed resource allocation, ensuring optimal utilisation and responsiveness to the client's evolving needs.