

Confidentiality and Non-Compete Clauses

Designed to protect client interest

In addition to the termination process, contracts often include confidentiality and non-compete clauses that remain in effect even after the engagement has ended.

These clauses are designed to protect the client's interests and prevent potential conflicts of interest or misuse of sensitive information.

Misuse of sensitive information

Prevent potential conflict of interest

+Follow

 Message

More