

Organisational Dynamics and Power Structures

When working with a client organisation, it is crucial to understand its internal dynamics and power structures. Organisations often have complex hierarchies, with various decision-making authority and influence levels. Identifying the key stakeholders, decision-makers, and influencers is essential for gaining buy-in, securing support, and driving successful change initiatives.

Identifying,

Begin by conducting a thorough stakeholder analysis, mapping out the organisational structure, and identifying the roles and responsibilities of the individuals involved. Pay close attention to informal networks and relationships, as these can sometimes hold more sway than formal hierarchies.
