

The world is filled with people who look modest but are actually wealthy and people who look rich who live at the razor's edge of insolvency. Keep this in mind when quickly judging others' success and setting your own goals.

If wealth is what you don't spend, what good is it? Well, let me convince you to save money.