

- single-factor, 170
- six-factor, 170
- three-factor, 111, 170

Modern portfolio theory (MPT), 25–34

- benefits of, 33–34
- Black-Scholes option pricing, 31–32
- capital asset pricing model, 27–30
- mean-variance optimization, 26–27
- and portfolio insurance, 32–33

Momentum, 13–24, 35–44, 135–141

- accelerating, 127–128
- behavioral basis for, 38–43
- challenges and opportunities for, 138–140
- classical ideas of, 13
- current applications of, 23–24
- defined, 13
- in early twentieth century, 14–15
- earnings, 127
- effectiveness of, 137–138
- and efficient market hypothesis, 10–11
- fresh, 128
- and investment paradigms, 136–137
- in mid-twentieth century, 15–18
- modern view of, 18–20
- price, 127
- rational basis for, 37
- research on, 21–23
- revenue, 127
- risk-based models of, 37
- and smart beta, 82
- time series, 84–85

(See also Absolute momentum; Dual momentum; Relative momentum)

Morgan Stanley Capital International Emerging Markets (MSCI EM) Index, 57