

Practically all the millionaires we studied made their millions slowly, over many decades.