

know they had hit their goal years earlier than they ever expected. She had just turned in her notice to retire at work—at age forty-five! She wrote, “Chris, you changed our family tree. Our five kids are growing up on a completely different trajectory than where we were headed.”