

couples filing jointly as of 2018). If that excludes you, then you'd just invest your full 15% into the 401(k) and be done with it.