

support or resistance zones. However, I did not want to take such a large loss (15%+).

A day after buying the stock, price returned to the rectangle formation to do more work. Price slowly, agonizingly, moved lower until hitting my stop in late December. I took a paper loss of 11%. After a second upward breakout, price continued rounding over, then dropped, and finally hit bottom at 8.88 in March 1999 before recovering to 16 and change.