

the yearly high. The air is so thin up there that parachutes don't work. I think they found that out by trying it. Rest in peace.

Apex distance. The breakout occurs 67% of the way to the wedge's apex. I was surprised at how consistent it was across all columns, so I checked my spreadsheet. The numbers are correct for the data I analyzed. The median is based on calendar days, not trading days in case you're wondering.

Throwbacks and pullbacks. Throwbacks and pullbacks happen a tad more often than we see in other chart pattern types (which is 66%). After price breaks out, it takes 11 or 12 days, on average, for the stock to return to the breakout price.