

Figure 4.4 Pete bought near the high and made a quick swing trade after D.

Chapter 5

Figure 5.1 This bullish bat breaks out upward \(at F\) and makes a strong push...

Figure 5.2 This bullish bat rises after point D, but breaks out downward at ...

Figure 5.3 This bullish bat isn't bullish at all. Price fails to turn higher...

Figure 5.4 This is a sample trade using a bullish bat.

Chapter 6

Figure 6.1 This big M sees price rise up to peak B and drop from peak C, bot...

Figure 6.2 This big M \(BD\) struggles to find a bottom between the two peaks ...

Figure 6.3 Price fails to drop more than 5% after the downward breakout.

Figure 6.4 Justin shorted this big M and lost money on the trade.

Chapter 7

Figure 7.1 This big W sees price rise, but not very far.

Figure 7.2 Price at F almost returns to the launch price, A.

Figure 7.3 Price busts the upward breakout from this big W.

Figure 7.4 John decided not to trade this big W because of overhead resistan...

Chapter 8

Figure 8.1 A broadening bottom, specifically a five-point reversal, so-calle...

Figure 8.2 Don't accept patterns with too much whitespace. This happens when...