

focus on doing the right things: establishing caring human principles, setting the course of action, and providing the vision that will inspire the members of the organization to follow.