

when the home is finished. Some lenders now offer the two types of loans together with only one closing, so you save closing costs.